

Commitments to Action

- My commitment is to take what I've learned here this weekend and use it to help others in similar situations.
- Learned a lot of new knowledge to help succeed in college. Find ways to involve more Hispanic students to these opportunities
- To take control and bring more people into SGA and different other programs to make us become a much better school.
- Inform more people of how important education is and ways to achieve their goal
- Describe my experiences to my clubs and the school's SGA and try to get them to help initiate some of the ideas brought up at the summit that would be beneficial to have in more places than those where the competition winners go to school.
- I'm hoping to work on a lot of the issues we talked about this weekend in the future. There are so many things that I have learned this weekend, not only about our school system but also about myself
- *Will speak against injustice or unfairness
- Will see that I will support "The Lounge" till the end and make sure it leaves that impact that we took an oath for.
- Go back to my campus and tell the students, faculty, staff and clubs I am in of my experiences here at the summit.
- Try to help students that I know get involved with things/organizations on campus like SGA and form a study group for students like me that may be having trouble in the same classes.
- Give Crystal and Will all the support I can in order to make their idea soar.
- I will continue to work with the 3MP to help my fellow 3MP mentees complete their education. I will continue to work with Crystal and Will to further implement Peer Pairing for success.
- To use what I've learned from Target 2020 to help not only myself but also others succeed.
- I want to get the people more involved at school, they're always complaining but don't want to voice their opinion. I want to get the community more involved with supporting the school.
- I commit to see the proposed Peer Pairing for success from start to finish, and to make sure that our idea comes to fruition. Staying active in my community.

- I am committed to spreading the word about the goals and objectives put forward at the Target 2020 summit and helping my peers to get motivated about completion of their degrees.
- I will continue to work for other people
- I will do my VERY BEST to make PP a successful, useful program and keep good documentation to share what we have accomplished.
- My commitment to this organization is to take what I have learned and bring it back to my college. I will commit to being a positive influence on all young students who think college is hard and cannot be done. A lot of students fresh out of high school are afraid of the new experience. I want to show kids, i.e. young females, that success can happen.
- I plan to get my school more active and involved with the community and school activities. By doing so this means getting the information to them by any means necessary. And to succeed in implementing all resources that are available to all, we all have a voice, and now its time to use it! The time is now!
- My commitment is to take what I learned this weekend and spread it amongst my peers.
- To prepare students for the next level of education and/or career choice, etc.
- To be the best counselor/instructor I can be.
- To hear everyone's voice and make a difference at RCC, the community, the world.
- To challenge myself and all of you to reach out to your community and mentor a child in need and to build a mentor network at all of your schools so our futures can build a strong and lasting bond with those who will come after us. Do this with honor, courage, and commitment.
- I will continue to seek resources that will assist me in completing my goals. I will remain versatile so I can remain focused throughout any difficulty. No filters! I commit to ensuring that the information and ideas discussed this weekend are enforced at my school.
- I commit to join my campus SGA and promote change.
- I'm going to commit to making an effort to get to know my student body and learn what they want to see happen around our school.
- Organize a mass protest for education on March 4th
- I commit to continue to push for funding for more space on our campus to hold students instead of losing them for lack of space.

Commitments to Action

- I am committed to Dreamkeepers at Durham Tech. I am committed to the adult education/GED program at Durham Tech. These are the specific interests I will support during and after I complete my post-secondary education.
- Become more involved in school activities, put forth more of an effort in school, be the best I can be.
- I promise to serve my community college system by advocating for students' rights and getting the information needed to fellow students and being that example to my fellow peers.
- My commitment to action is to remain active and support my community college and other community colleges through volunteering in the student success offices, SGA, and student life, etc.
- To dedicate my time and energies to help other students who may be suffering from society's ills, that would cause them to want to leave school, due to those factors.
- I'm going to strive to make sure that every community college stays in touch with one another and help one another by sharing visions, goals, and dreams.
- To continue be a mentor. Network for the North Carolina Community College System to have each of the 58 community colleges to be on the same page.
- I promise to take all I have learned to my organization and club to enlighten them in the relevant lessons I have acquired from this summit.
- To remain engaged and approachable to my fellow peers by creating a more visible presence on campus, and within my personal classroom. Initiate conversations and be encouraging throughout the entire discussions I'll encounter.
- I commit to being actively involved in positively motivating, informing, and mentoring my peers, while creating awareness about issues discussed throughout NC's Target 2020 Summit.
- My commitment to action is being more aware of the needs of the students at my community college.
- I plan to return to my school and share my experiences with fellow students. I also plan to inform my peers of the issues that are affecting schools across the state. You always hear about "knowledge is power", and it is true. If people are unaware of the issues that students are facing, we cannot work together to develop solutions. I plan to encourage my peers to act to assist to attain the goals that have been set forth by the wonderful and innovative minds here at Target 2020.

- "If you've been given a lot then you have a lot to give." - Anthony Foxx. I will give my knowledge, ideas, and compassion to my fellow peers to bring us up as a group. My goal is to make myself one of many motivated and driven individuals.
- My commitment is to complete my education and to always strive for success. I want to take my education as far as I can, and stay focused until I have reached success.
- My commitment to action will continue in the areas of campus and citywide awareness to issues affecting this campus. I am committed and will be an integral part of that change.
- I am personally committed to sharing my story, my skills, my resources, and my experiences with my peers and the people coming up behind me in hopes to encourage, motivate, and support the success of Millennials in my community, state and country.
- I certainly intend to strive to spread the knowledge of communication and being involved in your school and community. It's so important to our lives to have certain connections through networking. We are all capable of so much; we just need an engine to help us along the way. We need to be motivated and hopeful, in order for our goals to be met.
- Do the self-work to know thyself.
- I commit to taking the ideas shown this weekend and using them to implement change at my school and for my life. Even if I stand alone, I will voice my concerns, and be a voice for others not present.
- I commit to working to foster a sense of community with my classmates and peers. We must reinforce the positive actions of our peers and recognize everyone's hard work.
- To increase student awareness in relation to internship, job shadowing, and other activities. To bring back all of these ideas to my school and community.
- I commit to further expand the options and knowledge I now have, thanks to Target 2020, on how my peers and community are able to succeed with the completion of a degree.
- I commit to helping those students, not only in my school, but in the schools represented here as well as those that are not, to achieve their visions and goals through partnership and exchanging of resources

Commitments to Action

- I want to take our proposal and move forward with it. I am committed now and will remain committed until child-care can be added to the community college system and parents completion rates increase greatly.
- To inform mobilize about our transportation progress at least twice per month.
- I want, need and will commit to helping those who can't help themselves by community service dealing w/ children, elderly, and also down syndrome. So my commitment would be to put others before me when it comes to their personal needs.
- To gain knowledge to empower other Millennials to expand their horizons to reach their fullest potential. To assist in leading others to be even greater leaders than myself.
- Continue to pursue ways to increase success for fellow underprivileged students.
- To help nontraditional students to understand that there are resources to allow them to attend college. To link them with those resources if needed.
- I will speak with my elected officials to pass legislation to protect students from predatory private schools. I will also lend support to my fellow attendees when they ask me or I see the need. I will also speak with my president at school about getting out around her students to show she cares.
- I will bring the contact information to Mobilize.org and the Target 2020 to the president of the college and the SGA president.
- I will try to get other students more interested in their college and future and let them know that they have a voice about both no matter what they think and what others tell them.
- Staying focused more on school and my goal in life now and in the future.
- Try to continue to be courteous and listen to each other's ideas. I also want to see if it can be pursued to set up a NC regional conference amongst all the community colleges to share new ideas and together new solutions to any issues.
- I will continue to have success in my college years and to try to stay involved with things around or dealing with my education, because "education is the key to success."
- My personal commitment is to never stop trying to get my college campus the resources that they need, and never stop advocating for better community colleges throughout North Carolina and the United States.
- Committing to see the change that was discussed here and carry the vision and make it a reality.

- My commitment is to look within myself and promote the importance of education, no matter what life's obstacles may bring whether financial, emotional, or family issues, push through and promote higher education and start with yourselves.
- I commit my time and energy to the school and the community. I will help other Millennials get and stay involved with their school. I will encourage others to take a stand for what they believe in and to use their voice. I will continue to volunteer my time to help make the lives of others better.
- I feel like the biggest commitment I could make to increase graduation rates would be for me to empower myself and those around me to succeed. State of mind is everything.
- I will not stop fighting for what I know to be a major issue in the community college system
- My commitment is to do my best to make my campus, or whatever campus I'm on, a better learning facility, by sharing my knowledge and experiences with my peers.
- Making change, seeing eye to eye. Know mobilize/Target 2020 is not the only way to get the word out. I believe you have to commit and sacrifice for change and for a better success for the youth.
- I see this as kind of an analogy. Do you know that show here small businesses compete for high level investors. This shows the investors interest in us to vote on how to spend their money. I promise to donate money and "crush it" on a daily basis.
- I am committed to take all of the issues and solutions we have discussed and enlighten my student body about how we can make a change. This is going to be an epidemic, I feel each one of us can make a change, and I am committed to see it happen.
- I am going to travel to high schools and tell the students how community college is not a bad thing. It's simply a foundation that grounds you to your future.
- Talk to students by word of mouth and get it out there that we need to make a difference. Bring it up in my club organizations and brainstorm on how to make a difference.
- Over the course of this conference, it has become clear to me that I, personally, am to be a positive influence for my peers. It is my responsibility to have focused, important conversations with my peers. Get more involved. Have the vision of a brighter future.
- I commit to improving my school for the success (of) our students' future. I commit to telling my peers encouraging words to let them know no matter where you come from you can make a change.

Commitments to Action

- I'm making a commitment to stay involved and be more aware of my surroundings. I also commit to taking what I have back to my college and making sure our voices are heard.
- I am thoroughly committed to uniting with my peers, and spreading the knowledge that I accumulated during the summit. And, continuing to generate ideas, and participating in future events.
- I will continue to persevere through obstacles in order to reach my goals, while motivating others as well. Unity is an essential of community college, and I will strive to provide encouragement as we all reach our goals; as one.
- I am committed to sharing my experience with others that could not make it. And to continue my education. To help all further community colleges into continuing and further education.
